I am really baffled by the CIA public relations policies.

When the first CIA person was killed, you told us not to mention that. The next thing I see is you on television giving a speech at his gravesite.

The next instance where very recently the CIA person was wounded, everyone told CINCENT not to mention it. So he didn't. Now CIA is mentioning it repeatedly.

What in the world policy do you have? How does it work? How should we work with you so that we do what it is that makes sense? I am totally confused by the contradictory signals coming out of the agency.

Thank you.
