ATTN: Mr. [redacted]
Langley, VA

Dear Sir:

1. In accordance with previous agreement, a microfilm version of the Rhyming Dictionary, 1959-1969 (Part II - Reverse Alpha Sort) is transmitted herewith. The microfilm contains a cumulative alphabetical index of unique occurrences of names contained in our non-Soviet Personality files for the period 1959 through 1969 with nationality. Unique occurrences of Soviet surnames for the same period are also integrated into the index.

2. Names are listed alphabetically on 19 cartridge reels. The microfilm produced on the Stromberg Datagraphix 4060 Recordex is formatted for use on the 3M Filmac "4000" reader-printer; lens sizes up to and including 23X magnification can be used, with the image of each frame still appearing in the "printing" area on the viewing screen. Each reel contains identical header material, i.e., an explanation of the file and expansion of country abbreviations.

3. On 11 June 1970 we sent your office a hard-copy run in 22 volumes containing the 1959-1969 cumulative Rhyming Dictionary (Forward and Reverse) together with the 1969 annual run (Forward and Reverse) in 2 volumes. On 24 September 1971, a microfilm version encompassing the entire period 1959-1969 (Part I - Forward Alpha Sort) was transmitted which replaced the forward sorts. The microfilm transmitted herewith (Part II - Reverse Alpha Sort) covers the same entire period and replaces the reverse sorts. With the reception of both the forward and reverse microfilm sets, the hard copy sorts may be destroyed.

M/R: At the time of the implementation of Project MILLSTREAM in 1970, by which CIA assumed responsibility for biographic information support to NSA reporting elements on certain target areas, P22 supplied CIA/GRS with a duplicate copy of our Rhyming Dictionary Master Index of personalities contained in the P22 personality files. Subject microfilm represents 100% completion of a project which will result in considerable saving of space both here and at CIA. An additional set has also been made for the Records Repository at Crane, Indiana.
